Club Hears About Vietnam War

CAPT. JOPLIN

Captain Lamar Joplin of Magnolia, a helicopter pilot who has recently returned from Vietnam, spoke to the Hope Rotary Club last Friday and also showed some colored slides taken in a camp 20 miles from Saigon, where he was stationed with the 173rd helicopter combat assault company. He told of a typical day for an American combat pilot in that area, and he answered questions from those present. The speaker is a nephew of

50 Members of House Thinks Congress Needs Look at War Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress needs to take a formal look at U.S. policy in the Vietnam war, 50 House members suggested today. The 46 Republicans and 4 Democrats proposed a resolution asking Congress to decide "whether further congressional action is desirable in respect to policies in Southeast Asia." As they prepared their move: — Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said Sunday he does not believe Soviet rejection of his bid for help in getting North Vietnam to the conference table has wrecked peace hopes. — Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., said Saturday night the United States indirectly told Red China several years ago it would face massive retaliation, including nuclear firepower, if it entered the war in Vietnam. The State Department said no one has been threatened and the White House declined comment on Mundt's remarks. — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Sunday night the Soviet Union might send pilots to fly the MIGs it is supplying North Vietnam. — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, advocated a pause in bombing of North Vietnam "for a period until I think that we have done everything reasonably possible to exhaust the possibilities of new initiatives that might lead to the conference table." Signers of the latest move in Congress to test U.S. policy in Vietnam range in political philosophy from conservative to liberal. Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said: "This resolution arises, in my opinion, from deep-seated conviction that the Congress itself should deal at this time with questions of basic policy in regard to the Vietnam war. It provides the means through which the Congress can discharge responsibilities in foreign policy clearly placed upon it by the Constitution." The resolution, if approved by the House and Senate, would call upon congressional committees to consider the questions and report their findings to the two branches. Findley, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he senses "a great uneasiness among members of Congress, many of whom voted for the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution."

That resolution was approved by Congress Aug. 7, 1964. The resolution authorized "all necessary measures" the President might take "to repel any armed attack" against U.S. forces and "to prevent further aggression." It also approved in advance "all necessary steps including the use of armed force" which the President might take to help any nation that requested aid "in defense of its freedom" under the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty.

Rods, Wips Going Up in Smoke
LONDON (AP) — Canes, birch rods and cats-o-nine-tails will go up in smoke at prison yard bonfires Sunday, the Home Office ordered today. The fires will mark the official end of corporal punishment in British prisons, although the last man to feel the birch whip got 15 lashes in 1962. The order applies to 40 prisons that keep the implements, in case a visiting magistrate orders their use. A flogging could be performed only if a magistrate ordered it for gross violence on a guard or incitement to mutiny. Metal triangles to which men were tethered by their ankles when whipped will be beaten into scrap iron. Cloth and leather pieces used to bind prisoners will be burned.

Skydiver Folds Arms, Plunges to Death

ROCKLEDGE, Fla. (AP) — Carrying the signed contract for his own funeral and wearing two parachutes, skydiver John Wask stepped from an airplane Sunday at 3,200 feet. Instead of gripping the ripcord he folded his hands in prayer and crashed to his death. Five weeks earlier almost to the hour Wask stood below at Green Air Park and watched his pretty wife, Rickie, 22, bail out of the same plane on her second jump and die near his feet after her chute tangled. Shattered by the death of his wife, whom he married one year ago today, Wask told a reporter, "She took up skydiving just to please me." The papers in his wallet indicated Wask wanted to be buried beside his wife in the $1,700 silver casket he had chosen. Wask was an aerospace reporter and he continued on the job, returning to sport parachuting after the accident. "He told me it is the best way to die, the way Rickie would want to die," said Pearl S. Leech, Wask's editor at the Melbourne, Fla., Daily Times. "She would want to die having fun; doing what she wanted to do." Mrs. Leech said, "He told me that would never happen to him because he had enough experience so that, if his chute curled, he would know how to right himself." Lyle Goodin, safety officer for the Falling Stars Jump Club, watched through binoculars from the ground Sunday as Wask hurtled toward the ground. "He held his hands in a praying position," Goodin said. "We yelled and screamed at him to hit his 'chute,'" said Terry Alford, jumpmaster for the club.

Politicians Facing New Hazards

By HARRY KELLY
LOS ANGELES (AP) — If Michigan Gov. George Romney's cross-country tour is any standard, American politicians face some new hazards and experiences in the 1968 campaign. Political strategists looking for new gimmicks may face the question, "How do we top George?" However, as Romney prepared to tour the predominantly Negro district of Watts in Los Angeles today, even his aides were wondering if his visits could backfire among party conservatives. Although the Michigan governor says his urban tour is "non-political," the undeclared candidate for the Republican presidential nomination is blazing some unusual trails for politicians more accustomed to airport rallies or flag-draped platforms in cornfields and coliseums. Romney has done some of the usual things—climbing up rickety ladders to give painters a helping hand with the brush, flying through the Catskill mountains in rainshowers to give a sermon at a boys camp chapel, and climbing down into a subway being constructed 50-feet under San Francisco Bay. But in the new politics, Romney has also: — Sat in the gloomy storefront headquarters of black militants to defend himself against charges that his Mormon religion is racist. — Climbed to the roof of a four-story walkup in Spanish Harlem to peer down at a garbage strewn yard because a woman dared him to visit her home. — Eaten watermelon with former black nationalists and hippies in a flat decorated with a flag of a coiled snake the motto, "Don't Tread on Me." — Stepped in to the middle of several hundred hippies in San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury district where, he told newsmen later, he was offered marijuana as a gift. Romney's stated mission is to learn first hand about the problems of the elites and the programs being tried to solve them. But the Michigan governor is also interested in lining up support and delegates for the 1968 GOP presidential nominating convention. And his aides acknowledge that his travels through slums and hippiedom could backfire, particularly among party conservatives. Romney is no darling of the conservatives because of his refusal to support Barry Goldwater in 1964. But at least one Romney strategist feels the governor will have to get some conservative support in order to win the nomination. Sweating Stone

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED WITH BRIDAL SHOWER

Miss Beckie Butler, bride-elect of Gary Dean Clark, has been honored with bridal showers recently on three occasions. On September 14 members of the Tina Ambassador Class of the Garrett Memorial Baptist Church had a party for her in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride-elect wore white lace and had a yellow carnation corsage. The mothers of the engaged couple, Mrs. Jack Butler and Mrs. Bryan Clark, were at each of the entertainments, and the bride's chosen colors, yellow and white, were seen in pretty decorations at each. At the first one petits fours and punch were served for refreshments to 25.

The honoree received many lovely and useful gifts at this Thursday night party and also the next night, Friday, September 15 at the Parish House of St. Mark's Episcopal Church. Hostesses at the second shower were Mrs. R. E. McCain, Mrs. Arthur Gibson, Mrs. Max Bruce, Miss Karen Winer, Mrs. Patti Atchley, and Mrs. Donna Sartor.

A black and orange floral print was the choice of dress for Miss Butler at this party. With it she wore a white carnation corsage. The group of 25 friends wrote recipes for the future bride. Punch and cookies were served.

The guests included the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. E. E. Rogers, and Mrs. Norma Puskie, both of Stamps. Mrs. Rogers returned to Hope on September 21 when a third party was given for her granddaughter. This time Mrs. Rogers was accompanied by Mrs. Clara Mouser of Stamps.

This entertainment was held in the home of Mrs. A. R. Trout with Mrs. Sam Huckabee, Mrs. Bob Jackson, and Mrs. George Garrett as co-hostesses. Miss Butler wore mint green chiffon with a yellow carnation corsage.

The gathered group made rice bags to be distributed at the wedding on September 29. Cake was served with coffee or cold drinks. Many nice gifts were received by the bride-elect.

Mrs. Dewey Camp was hostess for a Friday Bridge Club meeting on September 22. Two club guests, Mrs. Roy Wilson and Mrs. F. R. Moses, were the highest scorers for the afternoon. At the end of the game, peach parfait, cookies and coffee were served to two tables of players.

METHODIST KINDERGARTEN MAKES FIELD TRIP

The children of the Methodist Kindergarten have enjoyed two field study trips since the opening of school. The first, a nature walk to secure specimens for the science table, also tied in nicely with the social studies unit of orientation. Since the itinerary was within a four block radius of the school, the children who were new became acquainted with the school neighborhood. On Friday, September 22, a trip was made to downtown Hope to purchase a gold fish and aquarium equipment for the kindergarten. This climaxed a unit of study on pets. Andrew

NEW YORK (AP) — The Telephone Hour returned to prime evening time on NBC and its premiere show Friday night, "The Many Faces of Romeo and Juliet" which was rich and rewarding.

The hour was, in a way, a sort of stunt-it demonstrated how the lovers of Verona leaped from Shakespeare's pages into other art forms—ballet, opera and the Broadway musical stage.

With Claire Bloom a beautiful, young Juliet and Jason Robards—far too mature—playing Romeo, the program opened with a reading of the balcony scene. The orchestra played Berlioz and Tchaikovsky music with the same theme.

Then Carlaacci and Erik Bruhn danced the scene, followed by another interpretation in Gounod's opera, sung by Anna Moffo and Sando Konya. Finally there was Carol Lawrence and Larry Kert in a modern version, "West Side Story," with Leonard Bernstein's music.

ABC on Sunday night preempted its entire evening for a pair of programs it labeled "specials"—one being a three and one-half hour broadcast of the 1962 movie, "Mutiny on the Bounty." The other, earlier, was an ice skating show taped in Germany.

For most of us, one ice show looks pretty much like the next—the chorus of girl skaters, the athletic skating stars, the comedy skaters—and of course the comedian host. Jonathan Winters was the nonskating M.C. this time, and did about as well as other comedians in the spot.

The new head man of CBS's "Mission: Impossible"—Pete Graves who replaced Steven Hill this season—is much busier than his predecessor. Where Hill was principally the planner, Graves is an active participant. Sunday night's mission was built around the creation of an artificial earthquake and was a novel and ingenious story.

Grateful to the President

MANILA (AP)—U. S. Ambassador William McCormick Blair Jr. today expressed gratitude to President Johnson "for affording me the opportunity to serve my country in the Philippines longer than any other American ambassador."

Blair, in a statement on his resignation announced earlier in Washington, noted that he has spent more than three "rewarding" years in the Philippines. "But I have been away from the

Tigers Lose Ground, Twins Lead

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Washington's unromantic Senators have shown Detroit to the door and now Tiger Manager Mayo Smith must figure out a way to keep his foot in it.
Paul Casanova and Fred Valentine were the chief cads in this tale of a broken affair and although Dan Cupid might not approve, Gil Hodges certainly did.
Casanova and Valentine delivered key singles in a three-run Washington ninth that gave the Senators a 5-4 victory over Detroit Sunday. The loss shoved the Tigers into fourth place, 1 1/2 games behind as the torrid American League pennant race moved into its final week.
Minnesota retained its one-half game lead, beating New York 9-4 for Dean Chance's 20th victory. Boston stayed right behind the Twins by walloping Baltimore 11-4 with an 18-hit attack. Third place Chicago used four pitchers to stop Cleveland 3-1 and stayed one game behind. In another game, California edged Kansas City 2-1.
In the National League, Houston topped New York 4-2, Cincinnati edged Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings. St. Louis nipped Atlanta 5-4, Pittsburgh shaded San Francisco 2-1 and Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 3-1.
The Tigers carried a 4-2 lead into the ninth inning against Washington and were looking forward to their third straight victory over the cooperative Senators.
But Mike Epstein and Frank Coggins opened with singles. After Ken McMullen bunted into a force out, Casanova singled one run across. The affectionate Senators were getting too cozy for Smith. He brought in reliever John Hiller who retired Cap Peterson on a line drive for the second out.
Hiller got the first two strikes over to Doug Camilli, who had

Cards Win; Pirates Edge Second Team

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Larry Jaster, who was caught in the shuffle when St. Louis restacked its pitching deck, has been working just as hard since he went on relief.
Jaster, a 1966 flash who lost his starting job when ace right-hander Bob Gibson recovered from a broken leg three weeks ago, pitched two scoreless innings in relief Sunday and struggled to a 5-4 victory over the Atlanta Braves.
It was the first victory in five relief appearances for Jaster, a strapping southpaw who shared the National League shutout lead a year ago.
While the runaway pennant winners were shading Atlanta in their final home game before the World Series, Pittsburgh edged second place San Francisco 2-1; Cincinnati topped the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings; Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 3-1 and Houston trimmed the New York Mets 4-2.
Minnesota held first place in the torrid American League race with a 9-4 triumph over the New York Yankees; Boston drubbed Baltimore 11-7; the Chicago White Sox bowled Cleveland 3-1; Washington upended Detroit 5-4 and California shaded Kansas City 2-1.
Dal Maxvill opened the bottom of the ninth with a single and scored the winning run from first base when Atlanta reliever Cecil Upshaw fielded Alex Johnson's bunt and heaved the ball into right field.
The victory gave Jaster a 9-7 season record, compared to an 11-5 mark last year that included five shutouts — all against Los Angeles.
Steve Blass checked the Giants on four hits but needed ninth inning help from Woody Fryman in halting San Francisco's four-game winning string. Fryman wild-pitched one run home before stranding the tying run on third to preserve Blass' sixth victory against eight setbacks.
Jerry Mays' double and Maury Wills' RBI single in the seventh gave the Pirates a 1-0 edge against Caylord Perry and Matty Alou's ninth inning single delivered the deciding run against reliever Frank Linzy. The loss

Hoople Was Right in Predictions

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer
Came for game, last week and was probably the blackest three days in very many years. The peerless prognosticator, Major Amos Hoople, gave a few upset predictions in this paper last Thursday. His percentage was fantastic.
Most likely his wildest prediction was Oklahoma State over Arkansas by a point. Then came Saturday's nightmare, with the Cowboys taking a 7-6 game from our beloved Razorbacks. Then Hoople picked one that sounded ridiculous, forecasting with a big "kaff-kaff" that Houston's Cougars would top the impressive Michigan State Spartans, 9-0-1 a year ago. Guess who won?
A dedicated and inspired Cougar squad walked away from the heavily favored Spartans, 37-7. Hoople's last upset prediction stated that the Northwestern Wildcats would stun the Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes. Since Miami was rated in the AP Top Ten college poll, this writer termed Hoople a madman. Then and even on TV, the Wildcats came back in the second half to beat the overconfident Hurricanes 12-7.
Some of Saturday's shockers weren't even foreseen by the "fearless" prognosticator. Nobody could see the Alabama Crimson Tide beating Florida State by less than 20 points, but a dramatic finish the Seminoles tied the Tide, 37-37. Then the Southern California Trojans came from a 7-7 halftime score to trip the Texas Longhorns 17-13.
Notre Dame and Georgia, along with UCLA, eluded Hoople's shadow with easy victories, but their time must be coming soon. Hoople's Bobcats and District 4-AA had the same fate, as the Cats, Malvern Crosssett, and Warren were upset on the same night. And the Hope Bobkittens lost their first game of the year last Thursday night, falling before the Arkadelphia Beavers 28-14.
At least one team of interest to Arkansas won their opening game, as the Arkansas State University Indians, ranked fifth among the nation's small colleges, slammed an outstanding Western Michigan team 21-8. The Indians, assured of a successful season, will play host to the Citadel on October 7, and the game will be contested in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium. This is a treat for fans around the state, and with the Razorbacks playing TCU in Fayetteville, there should be plenty of seats in good locations for any interested local fans who would like to attend. Now here are some interesting records that are unlike any thing seen in this area in many seasons.

ended a five-game winning streak for Perry, who allowed only four hits in eight innings.
A walk, Lee May's single and Tommy Helms' sacrifice fly in the 10th lifted the Reds past Chicago and sent them into third place — one-half game ahead of the Cubs.
Relief specialist Ted Abernathy, who limited the Cubs to one hit over the last two innings, picked up his sixth victory against three defeats.
Rick Wise tossed a three-hitter in Philadelphia's victory over the Dodgers. The young right-hander did not yield a hit until the sixth, when doubles by Jeff Torborg and pinch hitter Al Ferrara ended his shutout bid.
Cookie Rojas slammed a first inning homer for the Phils and Tony Gonzalez and Darrell Sutherland each contributed run-scoring singles.
Julio Gotay's two-run homer made the difference as the Astros subdued New York behind left-hander Chris Zachary. Ed Kranepool homered for the Mets.

A-State Is Winner Over Michigan

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas State University put together touchdown drives of 62 and 59 yards in the first half and defeated Western Michigan 21-8 here Saturday night.
Fullback Steve Cankiewicz scored all three of the Indians' touchdowns on one-yard runs. ASU was ranked fifth in the country in the Associated Press Small College Poll.
It was the Indians' season opener. Western Michigan, the defending champion in the Mid-American Conference, opened with a 24-14 victory over Miami of Ohio.
Cankiewicz scored in each of the first three quarters and Mike Everett converted after each score.

Broyles Tells Porkers to Look Forward

By HARRY KING Associated Press Writer LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Sunday that he and his Razorback football team would have to forget about Saturday's 7-6 loss to Oklahoma State University and "look forward" to the rest of the season.

It was Arkansas' first loss to Oklahoma State since 1953 and the Razorbacks' first opening game loss since losing to Mississippi 16-0 in 1961.

"We can't afford to look back," Broyles said. "Football games are lost and not won, particularly early in the season. They capitalized on our one big error—the fumble on the 30."

OSU defensive halfback Willie Kirkland came up with Ronny South's fumble early in the fourth quarter and OSU moved 31 yards for the touchdown. Craig Kessler kicked what proved to be the winning point with slightly more than 11 minutes left.

Jack Reynolds, a junior from Little Rock Horace Mann, romped 13 yards for the OSU touchdown, breaking two tackles.

Reynolds also made three other important runs. He gained seven on a third and six situation two plays prior to the touchdown. He rambled 40 yards on OSU's first possession of the second half to take field position away from the Razorbacks. The 204-pounder also picked up 12 yards on a third and ten situation at the OSU 20 with less than two minutes to go in the game.

The first down enabled OSU to hold the ball three more plays before punting to Arkansas with 50 seconds left.

"I thought out defensive execution was real good," said Broyles. "We missed Reynolds some but he's a great runner and a great runner will make you miss him."

Broyles said he was pleased with the Porkers' offensive execution between the two 30-yard lines.

"We couldn't get the ball out of our end of the field in the second half," he said. "And we couldn't get it over the goal in the first half. If we had done either, I think the game would have turned the other way." Broyles was obviously disappointed in the Razorbacks' punt return game and their punt coverage.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

"One area we have to improve on is our punt returns," he said. "We did not look like an Arkansas team on punt returns. Our punt coverage was not up to standards."

Arkansas, which has had the leading punt returner in the Southwest Conference for the past seven years, returned seven punts for 33 yards. OSU returned six for 67 yards.

Broyles blamed himself for Arkansas' inability to cross the goal.

"After the ball game I was sure we should have opened it up more and tried to increase our lead," said Broyles. "If they had been moving the ball the first half we probably would have."

Wingback David Dickey carried the ball once and caught one pass.

"I think we made a mistake by not giving him the ball more," Broyles said. "I hope we can correct this."

Arkansas forced OSU to punt on its first possession and moved the ball from its own 45 to the OSU four before South kicked a 21-yard field goal.

The Razorbacks moved 33 yards to the Cowboys' 10 on their third possession and South converted a 32-yard field goal attempt to put Arkansas on top 6-0.

What Broyles considers the biggest play of the game occurred about midway through the second period. Arkansas had moved from its 25 to the OSU 30 and faced a third and one situation at that point. Tailback Russell Cody and South did not make the necessary yardage on the next two plays and OSU took over.

The Cowboys had little success moving the ball the first half and managed only three first downs the first 30 minutes.

Reynolds' long run early in the third period gave the Cowboys field position and then they waited on a break. South's fumble put them in business at the Arkansas 31.

Arkansas got the ball back about four minutes later and Broyles replaced South, a fifth-year senior, with John Eichler, a redshirt sophomore. The strong-running Eichler moved the Porkers from their own 35 to the OSU six before he fumbled on a rollout.

Arkansas had two more chances but couldn't come up with the big play to move them into field goal range. South's 49-yard attempt with less than 10 seconds remaining was about five yards short.

Broyles said that South would start at quarterback against Tulsa at Fayetteville Saturday. "Ronny is our quarterback," Broyles said. "We'll use them both but you must remember that he was out there for the first time in a long time."

"The big thing is not to be discouraged. We're a young football team that's got to improve immeasurably."

Jim: "We have devoted just about enough space to
'Bridge in the Menagerie.'" Oswald: "How about one more hand showing how the Hideous Hog claims to use the fourth dimension in bringing home some of his absurd contracts?"
Jim: "You mean his version of the play called 'The Great Unblock' by the late Geoffrey Mott-Smith?" Oswald: "Yes. The Hog is in three no-trump after typical bidding. He has six nice diamonds but his partner blocks the suit with the ace and king and the only way to unblock is to discard them on clubs. Of course the hand is a cinch with a spade opening but West opens the four of clubs and East rises with the king."

Jim: "Most players would take the king with the ace and lead back the jack. This would ensure three club tricks some time or other and hold the contract to a small loss but the Hog was not interested in a small loss. He played the jack of clubs without the slightest pause. East returned the three of clubs and this time the Hog played the ten. West won with the queen while the Hog discarded a low heart from dummy. West saw no reason to abandon the club suit and led a third club. The trap had been sprung. The Hog took his two club tricks while discarding the ace and king of diamonds from dummy. Six diamonds and a spade followed to give him game and rubber."

Oswald: "The important thing about the whole play was that it was executed so smoothly. The Hog never paused to think at any time.
He worked it all out as soon as he saw dummy. In addition the heart discard from dummy was a masterpiece of misdirection. At least it lulled West into enough sense of security so that he led the third club."

Jim: "At least, that's what the Hog said."

THE WORST HURRICANES

Numerous hurricanes have touched the eastern and southern coasts of the United States since the turn of the century, but the ones shown above are among the most deadly, in terms of lives and property lost. Their respective tolls in the United States include: (1) Galveston, 6,000 dead, $30 million damages; (2) Audrey, 390 killed, $150 million; (3) Florida, 836 killed, $25 million; (4) Diane, 184 killed, $912,840,000; (5) New England, 600 killed, $336 million. The Weather Bureau has called this year's Beulah (6) "one of the worst Gulf hurricanes of the century." Though early warning methods have cut down on loss of life in recent years, property loss is still high. Loss to the Texas citrus crop itself has been estimated at $50 million.

THE WELL CHILD
Child's Head-Banging
May Be 'Protest Song'
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her son at the age of 18 months had spells of banging his head against his crib so severely at times as to cause black-and-blue marks. This is a fairly common occurrence in children from six months to three years of age. When it occurs the parents should pad the crib to prevent injuries.

This mother was advised by well-meaning friends to spank him (bad advice), ignore the head-banging, or lavish more affection on the child. The latter she couldn't very well do as she was truly devoted to him and behaved accordingly.
Because her son's head-banging didn't seem to make him any happier she took him to the pediatrician who examined the boy's ears and found that he had an acute middle ear infection.

Efforts to clear this up were unsuccessful until the boy's tonsils and adenoids, which were badly diseased, were removed, then presto—no more head-banging and a markedly improved disposition. Head-banging won't cure an earache but getting rid of the cause of the earache cured this child's head-banging.

Every child who bangs his head doesn't have an ear infection but it is just possible that he is trying to tell you something in terms of the only "protest song" he knows.

Q—My daughter, 3, drools that this is a sign of emphysema. How young a person could get this disease? Is it hereditary or contagious?

A—Although emphysema is seen most often in persons over 50 there is a form of the disease that may occur in children as a result of pneumonia, tuberculosis, asthma or cystic fibrosis. This disease is not contagious (but tuberculosis is) and is not hereditary (although asthma may be).

Drooling is not commonly associated with emphysema but is more likely to be caused by inflamed gums or tonsils, mercury poisoning,

Lobbyists Fight to Cripple Waterways; Front-Yard Story

One of the claimed purposes of the Johnson administration in creating additional cabinet posts is to strengthen the executive branch and weaken the lobbyists in the legislative branch—but the actual effect is to pile politicians upon politicians and concentrate more power in the hands of a few so that the lobbyists' job of influencing legislation is made easier.

A case in point is the railroad and trucking lobbies' attempt to strangle the competition from waterways transport by promoting a new tax on the fuel used by barge towboats and other inland vessels.

The proposed bill to levy a tax of 2 cents a gallon on fuel used by vessels having a maximum draft of 15 feet or less is sponsored not by railroad and truck lobbies operating in the Congress but by these same lobbies bringing pressure to bear on Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd—one of the new cabinet officers set up by the Johnson administration allegedly "to improve public service." The new tax bill was sent to Congress with a covering letter by Secretary Boyd specifically endorsing it.

I get this information from the Sept. 13 newsletter of the National Waterways Conference, Inc., which you may remark is itself just another lobby. But before you jump to the conclusion that this is merely a battle between conflicting lobbies you should know the history of transport in this country. The rails and the truckers are firmly established industries, and all the historical evidence points to the probability that their well-heeled lobbies are trying to cut off the new waterways development from the same federal help that rail and highway transports have enjoyed from the beginning.

The argument of the rail-truck lobbyists — and the Johnson cabinet officer — is that the development of waterways costs money and the users should pay a fuel tax to cover some of that cost. And yet history shows that the railroads started off with vast grants of land from the federal government, and untold millions of federal money were spent to build a nation-wide highway system for whose use truckers pay little more than non-commercial vehicles pay.

There is a pay-as-you-go plan for the Interstate system, but this has nothing to do with the regular highways. First the railroads were helped, then the truckers—and now both are busy trying to head off the rise of a third competitor—the barge lines.

My South Main St. neighbors must have been amazed last Saturday. During Thursday's rainstorm a huge dead limb fell off one of my oaks and lodged in the telephone cables. I couldn't move the heavy limb, and if I dragged it loose with a garden tractor there was risk of damage to the cables.

So I reported the matter to the telephone office, hoping that when they removed the big branch they might take it with them. But apparently every householder is entitled to keep his own fireplace fuel — because when I went to mow the front yard Saturday there was that big limb resting nicely on the lawn.

It should have been a quick job to wrap a chain around it and haul it off to the "back 40" to be burned. But it wasn't. My 20-foot yard chain had vanished. Uptown I went to get a 30-footer and a collection of end-hooks. Then I discovered that a tractor's tow connection doesn't work with a chain, but you need a clevis.

After a couple of hours running back and forth to the hardware store I finally got all the equipment together, moved the big limb, mowed the yard, and batted things down for the night.

Anyway, I'm ready for the next branch that falls off a tree—and oaks do have an uncanny habit of shedding dead branches whenever they feel like it.

Texas Cities Threatened by Floods

By GARY GARRISON
HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The savage Rio Grande, monstrously bloated by Hurricane Beulah's cloudbursts, sent a record torrent raging into the fringes of five South Texas cities today after ripping out a flood control dam.

The Texas Department of Public Safety warned residents along the side channel—the Arroyo Colorado—in Mercedes, La Feria, Harlingen, Rio Hondo and Lozano to flee to high ground.

Nearly 1,000 Harlingen residents fled to shelter by dawn as water topped the rim of the arroyo and lapped into the neighborhoods of fine homes.

At 6:30 a.m. CDT the Arroyo surged with 38.2 feet of water—more than a foot above the predicted crest—and it still rose. A Call went out for more volunteers to help crews who had spent the night building sandbag dikes around homes and storm sewers which lead the Arroyo.

The Coast Guard said its helicopters evacuated 635 Mexicans surrounded by flood waters by dark Sunday.

The Department of Public Safety said Harlingen was in the most danger of the five Texas cities threatened by the ram-paging Arroyo Colorado.

The Arroyo carried a flood crest of 34.2 feet in 1938. After that flood the 300-foot wide steel and concrete dam was built near Mercedes to turn floodwaters into a man-made channel and away from the Arroyo and the cities bordering it.

The state highway patrol set up road blocks to keep refugees from returning to the Rio Grande valley. Most roads were either impassable or extremely difficult anyway.

Reports of heavy rains upstream Sunday afternoon in the Rio Grande watershed on both sides of the border kept officials doubtful about the amount of water that would finally roll down the border river.

Meanwhile, 150 miles north of here, new rains in the Nueces River watershed sent fresh flooding into the little town of Three Rivers, and people trying to start cleanup work were driven back to high ground. A record flood crest on the Nueces bore down on Corpus Christi today.

American Also Hike Car Prices

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors said today its 1968 cars will carry price tags averaging $89 or 3.8 per cent higher than those on comparable 1967 models.

AMC thus became the fourth U.S. car maker to increase prices on its 1968 models.

Strike of Teachers Is Enough to Make Parents Anti-union

By HAL COUPER
NEW YORK (AP) — Well, it's enough to make you antinunion. Because, after all, if the United Federation of Teachers doesn't call this strike against the New York school system, it never happens.

No strike, and Public School No. 44 will be open. If No. 44 is open, Jeffrey, aged 11, will be in class instead of putting his trousers on at 10 a.m. And if Jeffrey is not putting his trousers on at 10 a.m., what occurs does not occur.

First word of what has taken place comes in the form of a telephone call to the office from Jeffrey's brother, Nick, aged 10. "Daddy," says Nick, "Jeffrey is in trouble. He was putting his pants on and, you know, something happened which is a man problem. That's why we didn't call Mommy at the university."

"It involves the zipper?"

"Yes, Daddy. We've tried everything but it's no good. Jeffrey is being very brave, but . . ."

"Hold everything. Daddy will be home cabwise forthwith."

The cab delivers Daddy at the apartment house in Manhattan and it is quickly evident that

Sunday School Teacher Who Embezzled Nearly $5 Million Dead at 71

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Miss Minnie Mangum, spinster Sunday school teacher who embezzled nearly $5 million is dead at the age of 71.

She became ill Sunday at the church where she had taught for more than 25 years, went home to bed and apparently died in her sleep. She was dead on arrival at a Portsmouth Hospital.

Her sister, Mrs. Lillian V. Eure, with whom she lived, said she apparently suffered a stroke. She had one in prison several years ago.

Miss Minnie, as she was called by her many friends and business acquaintances, was paroled 2½ years ago after serving nine years of a 20-year prison sentence.

Her arrest in December 1955 and the disclosure of embezzlements totaling nearly $3 million brought ruin to the Commonwealth Savings and Loan Association in nearby Norfolk where she had been employed for 28 years.

It was the largest embezzlement in Virginia's history and one of the largest on record in the nation.

A plump and jolly woman dedicated to church work and charitable activities, Miss Minnie appeared to live well within the income she earned as assistant secretary treasurer of the bank.

At her trial she said most of the money she took went to friends and family members as gifts and loans and to charity.

Early in 1956 she was tried on 16 indictments alleging the theft of $2,884,957.06. She pleaded guilty to 12 counts, including one of embezzling more than $1 million.

She quickly established a reputation as a model prisoner at the State Farm for Women in Goodland County, but was turned down by the State Parole Board three times before parole was granted in 1965. A former governor also had refused to grant her a pardon.

Much of the missing money was recovered in a series of federal suits brought against the recipients of Miss Minnie's generosity.

About $1 million was never accounted for.

Would Abolish Juvenile Boards

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council's Committee on Charitable, Penal and Correctional Institutions recommended Saturday that the state's four juvenile training school boards be abolished.

The committee recommended that a bill be introduced in the special legislative session proposed by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller to replace the boards with a single five-member board.

The new board would be composed of one member from each of the present boards and one person appointed by the governor.

Ex-Lawmaker Dies at 71

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — State Rep. L. H. Autry, 71, of Burdette, died Saturday at a Blitheville hospital. Autry was serving his 11th term in the Arkansas House and was the senior member of the legislative body.

He first served in 1939 and was re-elected to a second term in 1940. He went back to the House in 1945 and served ten years, then was elected again in 1960 and served through the recent General Assembly.

Cold Front Moving Over State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cold front that entered the Mid-South Sunday morning was lying stationary across extreme southern Arkansas today, dropping overnight low temperatures into the 40s in some areas of the state.

Calico Rock reported a low of 45, and temperatures were only one degree higher at Batesville, Gilbert and Brinkley. Walnut Ridge had a 49.

There were lows of 63 at Warren and Texarkana, 62 at Ozark and 60 at Portland.

No rainfall was recorded around the state during the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. and skies remained generally clear over the state today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said a warming trend would begin today and continue throughout most of the week. Cooler weather, along with scattered showers, was expected for the weekend.

The Weather Bureau said temperatures would remain near the normal highs of 80-84 and the normal lows of 55-60 during the week.

Gambling Devices Found in Trailer

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Gambling equipment, bearing the labels of 13 Hot Springs clubs on the back, was found in a trailer parked by a gravel pit Saturday by Benton Police.

Officers impounded the equipment, which they said included 38 slot machines, three blackjack tables, six dice tables and four roulette wheels.

Patrolman Al Brumelow said he obtained a search and seizure warrant from Municipal Judge John L. Hughes after he noticed that the trailer had been parked in the pit for several days.

The van was found near a watchman's shack at the Belvedere Sand and Gravel Co. Officers said they had not determined the owner of the van.

Fighting Lull, Planes Drop Leaflets

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP) — As the blasting back and forth across South Vietnam's northern frontier went into its third week, U.S. planes dropped leaflets urging North Vietnamese villagers to join the South, officials said today.

In an unprecedented move, some 240,000 leaflets were dropped in a village just above the border warning of "the terrible rain of death and destruction" caused by B52 bombing attacks in the area.

Meanwhile, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, said because of allied victories over the last two years, "We are now in a position from which the picture of ultimate military success may be viewed with increasing clarity."

He told South Korean troops in Saigon the allies "have taken tremendous strides toward military victory over the past two years."

In the border battle, Communist gunners fired more than 300 rounds today at Con Thien, a U.S. Marine outpost just 2½ miles below the demilitarized zone. Marine commanders refuse to give up the post, saying it holds a commanding position overlooking Communist infiltration routes down from the DMZ, where North Vietnam reportedly has perhaps 35,000 troops.

The B52s mentioned in the leaflets have been trying to take Communist pressure off Con Thien.

The eight-engine B52 Stratofortresses struck twice Sunday night and again today at Communist gun positions buried inside the DMZ. The bombers now have flown 79 strikes since mid-August in support of Con Thien and nearby outposts, unloading perhaps 12 million pounds of bombs.

Associated Press Correspondent Edwin C. White, with the Marines at Con Thien, reported that Marine casualties from today's shelling, although not officially disclosed, were relatively light.

White said this apparently was because the barrage came in the early morning when the Marines were still in their muddy bunkers and foxholes.

War Picture Brighter, Says General

SAIGON (AP) — As the deadly artillery duel between U.S. Marines and North Vietnamese still raged across the demilitarized zone, Gen. William C. Westmoreland declared today that allied victories over the past two years have painted a brightening picture of ultimate success.

"The free world forces in Vietnam, individually and collectively," the four-star U.S. commander told South Korean troops in Saigon, "Have taken tremendous strides toward military victory over the past two years."

"As a result, we are now in a position from which the picture of ultimate military success may be viewed with increasing clarity." His speech marked the second anniversary of South Korea's troop commitment to South Vietnam.

Meanwhile, the North Vietnamese kept up mortar and artillery barrages which, by unofficial count, have killed 47 Marines and wounded 633 in the last two weeks around Con Thien and the other Leatherneck outposts guarding South Vietnam's northern frontier. Six were killed and 33 wounded Sunday.

Trying to ease the pressure on the beleaguered Marines, eight-engine B52 Stratofortresses struck at Red gun positions and trench networks six miles north-northwest of Con Thien today. The raid followed two other B52 runs Sunday night that blasted enemy mortar and artillery positions five miles west and southwest of Con Thien.

Enemy casualties from Marine shelling and B52 bombings were unknown but a Communist news dispatch hinted that they were high. Peking's New China News Agency quoted a report from the Viet Cong's Gial Phong news agency that said hardly a village in the area has escaped U.S. bombs and artillery.

U.S. officials believe that a North Vietnamese force of perhaps 35,000 men deployed in and above the DMZ may be poised for an attack southward across the six-mile-wide buffer zone.

Elsewhere U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment troops reported killing 45 Communists near Tam Ky in coastal Quang Tin Province 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Two U.S. cavalrymen were killed and eight wounded.

Air attacks over North Vietnam were held down by cloudy monsoon weather to just 85 missions Sunday, mostly in North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

House Has Time Keeping Occupied

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Congress is expected to stay in session until late this year, Democratic leaders are having a difficult time finding enough business to keep the House busy.

When Rep. James A. Haley, D-Fla., complained last week that the House should meet five days a week, finish its business and go home, Democratic Leader Carl Albert replied that the House works each week until it finishes its business.

"We do work all the time (trying to get the legislative business from the committees of the House and from the committee on rules which must clear legislation for floor consideration) in order to have a full week of business," the Oklahoma Democrat told Haley.

But most of the important bills that still have to be passed, such as the antipoverty measure and the President's tax increase proposal, are so deeply buried in committees there is little likelihood of early House action.

In a way, it is a vicious cycle. The House does not schedule business on Fridays and some Mondays, but then committees are unable to meet those days since many members go home since the House is not meeting. Thus, the House falls behind schedule, and so do the committees.

The Senate is still far behind the House in considering appropriations bills, having passed nine to 14 for the House. Moreover, the Senate will have to wait for House action before it can even take up the tax increase.

During the past week, the leadership barely managed to round up enough bills and get them through the Rules Committee to put together enough business to keep House members busy in the coming week.

Except for an important bill to expand the federal program to prevent juvenile delinquency, the program consists of such things as an amendment of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the Fire Research and Safety Act and the monthly resolution to provide for continued appropriations at last year's levels because the fiscal 1968 money measures have not been approved.

Should action on these be completed, the leadership might have only two major bills with Rules Committee clearance available for the following week's schedule. Both are controversial measures no one is in much hurry to bring up.

One would penalize antiwar groups which ship supplies to the North Vietnamese or try to block troop trains. The other is a complicated interstate taxation measure to set some federal standards for state taxes.

A bill raising postal rates and federal pay was approved Thursday by the House Post Office Committee, and leaders may also get it on the following week's program.

Other bills which may be readied soon for the House floor deal with meat inspection, air pollution and election reform. Others such as highway beautification and the so-called "truth-in-lending" measure are lagging behind. Leaders will be satisfied to get one on the program each week.

WR Defends Against Criticism

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller went on television with a "Report to the People" Sunday, apparently to defend himself against Democratic charges of "do-nothingism."

The governor lauded his department heads, ticked off a list of what he said had been the accomplishments of his nine-month-old administration and declared that public support for his programs had provided the momentum needed to move toward a new "Era of Excellence"—the term he coined in his inaugural speech last January.

Rockefeller, who had taped his speech last week, also moved to put down rumors of a rift between himself and Lt. Gov. Murice "Footsie" Britt. "Through his work, and through his devotion, Footsie is bringing to his office stature it has never known, or perhaps even contemplated," the governor said. "He represents you, and he represents me, with the distinction and warmth which I believe perfectly personifies the Arkansas we all love and are proud of."

There had been reports that Britt and the governor were going through a period of disenchantment, and that Britt, a former Democrat, was considering a return to that party.

The governor also defended his 14 regional tours of the state, which had drawn cries of "politics" from the Democrats.

Rockefeller said his department heads, who accompanied him on the trips, had been "dubious" about them at first, but that "to a man, our department heads look back now and say that you've given them a valuable perspective... that no amount of desk work could have provided."

"There have been some complaints that I haven't been in my office at the Capitol every day," the governor said. "I expected these. But in that office, I'm able to see only a comparative handful of people in a day's time. In the course of our regional visits, I and my administrative team have been able to talk directly with an estimated 21,000 of you."

As accomplishments, the governor listed the Arkansas Young Citizens Camp held several months ago at Camp Robinson in North Little Rock, a "new approach to budgetary control" that led the federal government to choose Arkansas as one of six states for a national pilot program and the establishment of a new Collections Division that is bringing in delinquent taxes to the Revenue Department at the rate of "hundreds of thousands of dollars a year."

Finds Complaint Is Not New

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Herald Examiner columnist, looking back into the newspaper's files, found this item printed 25 years ago:

"Common complaint in Los Angeles today was, 'My eyes smart.' The office of Dr. George Uhl, city health officer, received numerous reports of burning eyes and nostrils and sharp headaches."

"Dr. Uhl assured citizens that the condition was nothing to worry about. He said it was due to aggravating effects of gases, smoke and vapor from industrial plants and monoxide gases from motor vehicles. The city health office predicted that the discomfort would be only temporary."

That's right—smog.

Parkin Man Is Wounded Fatally

PARKIN, Ark. (AP)—Robert Black, 20, of near Parkin was wounded fatally Sunday while playing Russian roulette, according to Deputy Sheriff L.D. Hopper of Cross County.

Hopper said Black was playing Russian roulette with his brothers, L. C., 16, and George, 23. Black was shot just above the ear with a .38 caliber pistol, Hopper said.

Truckers Vote Approval on 2 Conditions

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—About 800 striking truckers from four states voted Sunday to return to work for 90 days if the Teamsters Union agreed to two conditions.

The conditions were that there be no reprisals against anyone on strike and that truckers be paid for time spent in mills waiting for loads.

During the 90 days, spokesmen for the strikers said talks must continue to reopen the Teamsters contract. Trucker owner-operators want an increase to 79 per cent of the fee for hauling steel under contractor lease to major trucking firms. They now get an average of 73 per cent.

The truckers said they would go out again after 90 days if the dispute is not settled. Truckers came from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Indiana to attend the meeting.

The eight-state strike began last month in Indiana.

Mother Oldest Washing Machine

CRANFIELD, England (AP) — In a local contest to find the oldest working washing machine, an official called at Trevor Wells' home and asked to see the machine called "Mother."

"You're looking at it," said Wells' 57-year-old mother, Annie. "I do all the washing here."

The official explained he was looking for a genuine machine still in use.

"I'm genuine and I'm still being used," Mrs. Wells said.

She said later, "He didn't seem to see the joke, but we can't stop laughing about it."

A contest spokesman said another machine called "Darling" turned out to be a 1900 hand-agitated machine—67 years old.

Johnson's Brother Hurt in Wreck

PASADENA, Md. (AP) — President Johnson's brother, Samuel H. Johnson, 53, was injured Sunday in a two-car accident in Pasadena.

Anne Arundel County police said Johnson, a front seat passenger in one of the cars was admitted to Kimbrough Hospital at Fort Meade. He suffered a broken lower right leg, several broken ribs and cuts and bruises.

He was listed in satisfactory condition.

That Drunk Just Picked Lock

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police officers had leg irons locked on Edward D. Mitchell when they brought him to jail from a Saturday night knife fight.

When they tried to get the irons off, the key broke.

A man being booked for drunkenness said he could help if he had a hair pin.

The jailers found one, and the drunk picked the lock.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

THE NAME OF THE GAME IS — FEMALE
Dear Helen:

My husband goes hunting every weekend. He used to take his hunting dogs and dress in his oldest clothes. Now the dogs stay home and he wears a good sports outfit. He says he has the old clothes in the car.

Last Saturday I found them out in the garage, together with his gun. And I found lipstick on his right shirt sleeve when I washed Monday.

Would you believe he is "hunting"? — DOUBTER

Dear Doubter:

Yes. But the name of the game is — female.

Tell your husband this kind of "hunting" can only be done WITHOUT a license—marriage, that is—and if he'd keep his valid, he'd better stay within the legal limits, fast! — H

Dear Helen:

Since you mentioned our daughter, Dorene Giacopini, in your column, the response has been overwhelming. She has received cards, letters, packages from every state and even from boys in Vietnam — Some 2,500 pieces of mail and it's still coming.

It is so gratifying to know how kind and thoughtful people can be to a little girl who is going through a trying year. The mail started arriving when her spirits were low and it gave her a big boost. In the five months she has been in the hospital our seven-year-old has been in several casts and in traction. Her next operation is postponed two months because of infections and other complications and she is only about half way through her ordeal, with ten more operations to go to correct her birth defect. (She was born with an open spine.) We only hope that someday she can throw away her braces and crutches, and with so many of your wonderful readers pulling for her, I'm sure our prayers will be granted.

I'd like to write to each, but hope they will understand and read this heartfelt "Thank You" from — MRS. BERT GIACOPINI, 57 Sunny Lane, Torrington, Conn., 06790.

Dear Helen:

In response to the question, "What and who originated the birthday spanking?" how about the doctor who gives the baby his first whack at the moment of birth? — THE BRAIN

Dear Brain:

Good thinking! — H.

Dear Helen:

I believe it was in your column I read the inquiry about why men's and women's clothing buttoned on different sides. I have heard the reason is that in the olden days, men had to be on the alert and ready to fight — so he could button or unbutton his coat, shirt, etc., while still fighting with his right hand. — MRS. D.

Dear Mrs. D.:

There they go — discriminating against us southpaws again.

P.S. You didn't read the question in HHU, but thanks for the tip anyway. — H.

Dear Helen:

What would you do if you caught your daughter shoplifting? I found some articles in her wastepaper basket, questioned her, and she finally admitted she had taken cosmetics and a pair of hose, so that the kids at school wouldn't think she was square. She says the rowdy girls don't like her, and that I just wouldn't understand why she wants this type to admire her, even if she doesn't want them as friends. Help me to help my daughter! — M.C.

Everybody Was

Left Waiting

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Not only brides, but grooms as well, were left waiting in Albuquerque.

The Bernalillo County clerk's office was closed Friday, observing "Albuquerque Day" at the New Mexico State Fair.

Several couples inquired into marriage licenses that were to be ready Friday after application had been made last Monday. New Mexico law requires a three-day wait.

One groom, refusing to be identified, said he obtained verification of the license through a lawyer and his pastor and the wedding went off Friday night without a hitch, with some 75 guests attending.

Boy Frees Father From Airplane

STIBBINGTON, England (AP) — An 8-year-old boy freed his father from a crashed and burning plane Sunday by cutting through a safety harness with a pocket penknife.

Young Christopher Cotton and two other relatives were flying in Dennis Cotton's plane when one of its engines caught fire.

Cotton crashed the plane at a private air field and it nose-dived, trapping him in his pilot's seat. The other three escaped, only slightly hurt.

Christopher whipped out his knife and sliced through the seat belt. His father piled out and extinguished the fire.

Percy Not Interested in Presidency

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As Illinois' potential favorite son, Sen. Charles H. Percy vows to go to extraordinary lengths to keep from becoming an active participant in the pre-convention campaign for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Percy said in an interview he will have no compunction about signing affidavits disclaiming presidential ambitions in states where that is necessary to keep his name off preferential primary ballots.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has said he would not sign such affidavits because they would conflict with his plan to become California's favorite son and "would make me a liar either in the other states or at home."

It is different with him, Percy said, "I am not a candidate and I'm not going to campaign." Percy said, "I'm going to stay as far away from it as possible. I haven't made up my mind whom I will support for the nomination and I probably won't until next June."

Percy has made it clear he will keep his name off the ballot in the nation's first primary in New Hampshire March 12. He may discourage his supporters there, but can't prevent them from launching a write-in campaign.

He says he is determined also to keep his name off the ballots in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon, where affidavits are required for such actions.

California law requires that Reagan enter a slate of delegates pledged to him in a June primary if he wants to be favorite son. Percy, on the other hand, will have to depend on the willingness of unpledged delegates chosen in a primary to designate him as a favorite son and thus will not be the direct choice of Illinois voters.

While Percy has come to be regarded as a fallback possibility of Republican moderates if Michigan Gov. George Romney is tripped up in his quest for the nomination, the Illinois senator said he has been working for the party and not himself in filling extensive speaking engagements.

Percy has become increasingly critical of President Johnson's conduct of the Vietnam war.

He has a private agreement with Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, who supports Johnson's basic policy, to disagree on the Vietnam issue and some others.

Percy has been sounding a theme recently that almost any Republican could take in the 1968 campaign—that Hanoi won't deal with Johnson to end the war and that a different president is needed.

Reagan Is Favorite Son in California

By BILL BOYARSKY
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — California's Republican party organization is ready to go to the GOP national convention backing Gov. Ronald Reagan as a favorite son presidential candidate.

A few hours before a poll was released showing Reagan's popularity has slipped a bit this summer, the Republican State Central Committee unanimously supported the first-term governor as California's favorite son.

State GOP Chairman James W. Halley told the Republicans Sunday: "The eyes of the nation are indeed on this state and on Ronald Reagan."

Mervin D. Field's California poll indicated California voters are finding more fault with Reagan. Field's figures show 37 per cent thought Reagan was doing a job as of this month, compared with 41 per cent in June. In both polls 33 per cent felt he was doing a fair job.

Those finding him doing a poor job jumped from 17 to 25 per cent.

Field said voters in the earlier poll were judging Reagan more on style and personality. It now appears, he said, that Reagan's handling of state problems has begun to affect his popularity.

Field said Reagan is being criticized chiefly for proposing cuts in the state health program, raising taxes, cutting mental health funds and proposing tuition and fee increases for the state university.

The Republican party's state policy-making body gave its blessing to Reagan as the state's favorite son candidate for president next June as the head of an 86-vote delegation in the state's presidential primary election.

As of now no opposition is in sight for the Reagan delegation, and none is expected since both moderate and conservative wings of the party endorsed Reagan as a favorite son.

Reagan insists he is not an outright candidate for president, but just wants to be a favorite son to unify the party in his home state.

The Central Committee praised Reagan for "a job well done" as governor and unanimously supported his economies in such state welfare programs as medical aid to the poor.

Adoption of the resolution followed an unexpected debate which two Negro Central Com-

Chances Slim for Any UN Agreement

By WILLIAM N. OATES
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk comes to the United Nations today to talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko but chances looked slim for agreement on Vietnam or the Middle East.

Rusk is to give a dinner to-night for Gromyko after conferences separately with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, British Foreign Secretary George Brown and Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag.

Rusk, Gromyko, Brown and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will be guests of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant at a Big Four "discussion dinner" in Thant's office Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, Eban was to speak today in the U.N. General Assembly's general policy debate, opening public exchange with Arab foreign ministers over how to settle the Israeli-Arab war fought last June 5-10.

The Arab summit meeting in Khartoum Aug. 29-Sept. 1 agreed on united diplomatic efforts to achieve the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt, Jordan and Syria and on "no peace, no negotiation with Israel."

But a source in a position to know stressed Sunday that Israeli's position was that any such withdrawal "should be consequent upon peace moves" worked out in direct Arab-Israeli negotiations. He said Eban had found "a large degree of understanding" from other foreign ministers to whom he had stated that position.

U.S. Chief Delegate Arthur J. Goldberg said on CBS radio-TV's "Face the Nation" Sunday that the United States would "persist in exploring" for Soviet willingness to help get a new Geneva conference to settle the war in Vietnam.

But Goldberg, who will go with Rusk to Thant's discussion dinner, declared that he was "not at the moment particularly hopeful that these discussions will change the posture" of the Soviet Union.

Gromyko did not respond in the General Assembly Friday to Goldberg's question whether the Soviet Union would join Britain in reconvening the 1954 and 1962 sessions of the Geneva conference for negotiations on Vietnam.

Baboon Killed by Vandals

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A pet baboon is dead because vandals couldn't keep away from his cage.

Three policemen shot the baboon to death in North Mountain Park Sunday after chasing it up a mountain.

Dr. Kenneth Hall, owner of the baboon, asked police to kill it because he feared it would become dangerous if left to roam. The animal escaped from a cage at North Mountain Hospital after vandals cut a hole in the wire.

Hall said the wire had been cut four times previously, but ended and fled.

This Burglar Unsuccessful
EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Police in East St. Louis are looking for an honest but unsuccessful burglar named Mike.

Officers said a man broke into a supermarket Sunday, knocked the combinations off three safes, but couldn't get into them.

Police said the same man pencilled this note on a paper bag and left it, along with three dimes, on the check-out counter:

"To whom it may concern. I bought a 29-cent pack of safety pins but there was no one here to check me out. So here's the 29 cents plus one cent for tax. Thank you very much. Your're chum and friend, "Mike."

he had always managed to coax the baboon back inside. This last time the baboon was frightened four times previously, but ended and fled.

Jim Nance Hasn't Seen Better Day

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Nance has had a better day, but Boston Coach Mike Holovak says his Patriots never Nance piled up an awesome total of 185 yards in 34 carries Sunday, leading Boston to a surprising 23-0 victory over Buffalo, the first shutout the Bills have suffered in 137 American Football League games.

Nance's best day? The league's 1966 Player of the Year gained 208 yards against Oakland last year. But his performance Sunday was enough to get him the game ball and to get Holovak thinking in terms of superlatives.

"It was our best game," the Boston pilot said distinctly. "We didn't have any interceptions or fumbles, and the Bills still are the toughest club in the league defensively."

In their first three games, all defeats, the Patriots fumbled five times and had 11 passes intercepted. Now their thoughts are rambling back to last season when, after a bad start, a victory over the Bills sparked them to six more triumphs and second place in the Eastern Division.

In other AFL games Sunday, New York beat Denver 38-24, Kansas City blanked Miami 24-0 and San Diego upended Houston 13-3.

In the NFL, San Francisco pounded Atlanta 38-7, Baltimore bombed Philadelphia 38-6, Green Bay survived Chicago 13-10, Detroit crushed Cleveland 31-14, Dallas topped New York 38-24, St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 28-14 and Washington smothered New Orleans 30-10.

Joe Namath had a marvelous day for the Jets, completing 22 of 37 passes for 399 yards and two touchdowns. Emerson Boozer ran for three touchdowns. Also impressive about Namath's performance was the fact that in the second period the Broncos had a 24-7 lead.

Mike Garrett gained 133 yards in 20 carries for the Chiefs and caught a 34-yard scoring toss from Len Dawson. Otis Taylor caught a Dawson pass for a 57-yard scoring play.

Dick Van Raaphorst kicked a pair of field goals and Lance Alworth made a leaping catch of a pass from John Hadl for a 44-yard touchdown for the Chargers. Alworth caught 10 passes altogether, good for 121 yards.

State College Has a New Co-Star

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
State College of Arkansas' Bobby Tiner who has guided the Bears to a share of two Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference football championships has a new co-star.

He's Darrell Hatchett, a freshman quarterback from North Little Rock, who has been moved to split end. Tiner hooked up with Hatchett for three touchdowns Saturday night as the Bears came from behind to edge Ouachita Baptist University 23-20.

The pass plays covered 80, 30 and nine yards. The 30-yarder came in the fourth period and cut OBU's lead from 11 points to 20-16. Hatchett caught the nine-yarder with 59 seconds remaining.

Arkansas Tech's Bobby Bartlett and Arkansas A&M's Gary Tate traded field goals as the Wonder Boys and the Weevils battled to a 3-3 tie at Russellville. Southern State's Stanley May hit All-AIC end Travis Giles for two touchdowns as the Muleriders defeated Harding 26-9 at Searcy.

Tiner and the Bears missed the conference championship on the last day of the 1963 season. Tiner guided SCA to a share of the crown in 1965 and 1966. He was ineligible in 1964.

Hatchett, who would have been the No. 1 quarterback if Tiner had not recovered from a car injury, caught six passes for 151 yards.

OBU scored first on a 36-yard run by John Cunningham but SCA came back on the 80-yard pass from Tiner to Hatchett. Jim Wilson kicked a 34-yard field goal to give SCA a 9-6 lead but Johnnie Johnson bulled two yards in the second quarter to give the advantage back to OBU. Johnson's touchdown was set up by a pass from Bobby Crouch to Doug Freese.

Crouch hit Freese for 43 yards to the three late in the third quarter and Johnson scored again to put OBU on top 20-9. Tiner and Hatchett then combined to pull out the victory.

Bartlett kicked his field goal pair of field goals and Lance Alworth made a leaping catch There's a decided new look to the young college football season today—Michigan State trampled, Alabama tied by a three-touchdown underdog and the West Coast powers suddenly in a position to challenge mighty Notre Dame for No. 1.

And, too, there's upstart Houston, suddenly thrust into the spotlight on the strength of a fantastic 37-7 rout of Duffy Daugherty's Michigan State crew, ranked third nationally going into the game and all-winning in 1966.

"It's been a long time since we've taken our lumps like that," a subdued Daugherty said after the stunning reversal of form in Michigan State's opener. "But I've seen sicker cats get well."

But Alabama's Bear Bryant couldn't be even that optimistic after his second-ranked Crimson Tide was tied 37-37 by surprising Florida State in their opener.

"This is the weakest defensive team I've ever put on the field," he said. "Everything about the defense was poor. They've forgotten what it takes to play defense."

Of the top three, only Notre Dame won, an easy, 41-8 opening triumph over California.

Coach Ara Parseghian had words of praise for quarterback Terry Hanratty—"He ran the ball club well, he hit his targets and he ran with the ball well!"—

Tech's tie with A&M. Bartlett had missed earlier from 22 yards away.

Tate connected on a 42-yard field goal with 8:38 to go in the second quarter. He missed one in the first period and had another blocked early in the fourth quarter by George Langley.

Southern State held a 12-9 lead over Harding with six minutes to go in the third period when May hit Giles with a 33-yard touchdown pass. Minutes later May passed 22 yards to Giles for another touchdown.

SSC took the lead in the first period on Robert Dotson's touchdown plunge. Phil Trotter raced 44 yards for the second Mulerider touchdown. James Street's 21-yard field goal and Don Dickson's one-yard sneak accounted for the Harding scoring.

National Has Field Goal Record

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Bakken was looking so hard for the end—a National Football League field goal record—he almost lost sight of the means—the ball.

The football-style kicker set a record of seven field goals Sunday in nine attempts, also a record. His kicking also carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a 28-14 upset of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"I knew about the record, and it almost cost me," Bakken said. "When I kicked the seventh one, I wanted to see if it was any good almost before I kicked it. So I looked up and almost dubbed it. I just made it."

It just made it 23 yards and broke the mark of six set last season by soccer-style kicker Caro Yepremian of Detroit.

Don Chandler, another conventional-style kicker, didn't set any records, but he did save Green Bay from defeat for the second straight week.

Chandler, who booted an 18-yarder with 1:43 left to gain Green Bay a 17-17 tie with Detroit in their season opener, kicked a 46-yarder with just 63 seconds remaining Sunday, giving the mistake-prone Packers a 13-10 victory over the underdog Chicago Bears.

In other NFL games, Johnny

Unitas boosted his career passing yardage past the 30,000-mark as Baltimore clobbered Philadelphia 38-6, Washington drubbed New Orleans 30-10, Dallas clipped the New York Giants 38-24, Detroit topped Cleveland 31-14 and San Francisco trounced Atlanta 38-7. Los Angeles outclassed Minnesota 39-3 Friday night.

Boston blanked Buffalo 23-0, Kansas City whipped Miami 24-0, San Diego outlasted Houston 13-3 and the New York Jets scrambled past Denver 38-24 in the American Football League.

The Cardinals, who stymied Pittsburgh with three interceptions and a fumble recovery which they converted into 16 points, scored their only touchdown on quarterback Jim Hart's 23-yard run in the first quarter.

Although Green Bay never could get rolling—Chicago intercepted five Bart Starr passes and recovered three fumbles—the Packers led 10-0 at halftime on the strength of Jim Grabowski two-yard touchdown run and Chandler's 20-yard field goal.

Chicago got a 22-yard three-pointer from Mac Percival in the third quarter and tied it on Gale Sayers' 13-yard TD dash just minutes before Chandler's winning kick.

Unitas passed 10 and 31 yards to flanker Willie Richards and Tony Lorick scored on a pair of three-yard runs in Baltimore's romp. Sam Baker kicked two field goals for Philadelphia's points.

The running of Washington rookie fullback Rah on McDonald proved too much for New Orleans. McDonald scored on runs of one, 36 and 15 yards and gained 98 yards in 15 carries. New Orleans got a touchdown on a 36-yard pass from Bill Kilmer to Walter Roberts for a brief 10-6 lead in the second quarter.

Don Meredith sparked the Dallas victory, hitting on 17 of 26 passes for 243 yards and four touchdowns. Bob Hayes caught two of the scoring strikes, covering 43 and 20 yards. Fran Tarkenton passed 52 yards to Homer Jones for one Giant TD, and Jones ran 46 yards on a reverse for another.

Milt Plum threw a TD pass and Tom Watkins rushed for two scores in Detroit's triumph over Cleveland.
